Expert Advice

As stakeholders, we must operate as one according to the highest set standards. For us to fully achieve excellence and professionalism, we need to get rid of old practices and, as market leaders, set the path for others to follow. Innovation, along with a focus on smart technology and adoption of sustainable strategies must be priorities of FM professionals.

Founding Members since 2010

20 of Cofely employees have attended MEFMA Facility Management Courses.

ISO

One of their highlights last year was their collaboration with Masdar forged to successfully secure the ISO 50001-2011 standard certification. It was historic because it was the first time that such a prestigious certification was awarded in the UAE.

Their partnership has also paved the way for energy management within operational maintenance, setting an effective mechanism to measure and quantify this practice.

Human Skills Development

Another important highlight was becoming the region's employer of choice. In 2017, their employee turnover was only less than 2 per cent thanks to their 'Invest in your people and they will invest in your business' philosophy.

This year, they will continue to focus on human skills development within their organization to promote continuous learning and ensure excellent delivery of services.
